The image shows a simple HTML contact form. It consists of three input fields: a single-line text box for 'Name:', a single-line text box for 'E-mail:', and a multi-line text area for 'Message:'. Below these fields is a button labeled 'Send your message'.

Put 2 text boxes and a text area (multi line text box) and finally a submit button and their labels as displayed in above picture.

Set the action of the form to send you an email when clicked to the submit button.

- A popup menu with the list of states (put at least 5 states to demonstrate you can add)
- A checkbox to get smoking status (smoking, not smoking)
- A text box for the name
- An option box for the marital status (like married, single, decline to state)
- Finally a submit button and a clear button (just put a button with type="clear", to clean the content of form)
